Persecution Profile: Nigerian Christians

Reverend Yohanna Shuaibu died Sept 23 from wounds by a mob attack. A local man had left Islam, neither attending the church or mosque, and killed his sister-in-law. The man surrendered himself to the police, but the local muslim community blamed the reverend because they believed he converted the man. The Reverend and his family spent a night in a neighboring village before returning to evacuate the Christian school children. The mob attack the reverend's home that night. The reverend's wife and children escaped but Yohanna died from the machete attack. The mob went on to burn his home, church, and school.

Elsewhere in Nigeria, on Sept 26, 44 Christians were confirmed killed in nighttime attacks. Gunman also attacked a church killing one and wounding several others. Those killed were mostly women & children. Some are still missing. Please pray for our persecuted brothers & sisters.
